MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS :

Another year in our municipal government has passed, and we, through the mercy of our Heavenly Father, are permitted to assemble for the purpose of organizing another City Government. I have been called by the free suffrage of the citizens of this city to discharge the duties of Mayor, by a very united voice of the people, to whom I would return my grateful and heartfelt thanks for the honor conferred upon me. I trust that I may in some measure retain the confidence which my fellow citizens have thus shown me, by an honest, prompt and faithful discharge of all duties and obligations that may devolve upon me. Not having had any experience in municipal affairs, I shall look to you for advice, and shall depend much upon the wisdom and experience of the present City Councils, many of whom have been honored with a position in our City Government for years.

The great national life struggle which we have so recently passed through in order to perpetuate the glorious liberties bought so dearly by our fathers and handed down from them to us, has cost us, besides precious lives, much treasure, and we now find ourselves burdened with a heavy and troublesome debt. To provide means for the payment of the interest of this debt and all the current expenses of our city the present fiscal year, will require your careful and candid consideration. The wants of our people demand a liberal provision, but not an extravagant expenditure of money, and I would recommend that whenever you are called upon to appropriate money for any purpose, you should exercise the most rigid economy consistent with the public welfare.

Agreeably to the exhibit made Dec. 30, 1869, the whole amount of city debt is $230,948 92 ; our assets $32,446 61 ; leaving the city in debt $198,492 31. Of this amount $97,600 is bonded. The balance is in notes, excepting outstanding claims of $2,183 92 I would recommend the funding of the floating debt whenever interest becomes six per cent. in our money market; and that bonds be issued, made payable yearly, with coupons attached, so that we shall be obliged annually to pay a portion of our city debt. This course will make much less trouble for our successors and a saving in our interest, and be better than to remain as now in a floating and unsettled condition. I think the reduction of more than one twenty-fifth part of our public debt annually is taxing our citizens too heavily, and more than many are able to pay without sacrifice and suffering. We became involved in debt by raising money in order to save our country, that we might enjoy all the dear rights inherited from our fathers and transmitted to us; and as this generation has sacrificed so many valuable lives, it is no more than just and right that succeeding generations be made to share the burden of a part of our indebtedness.

Much credit is due our retiring city government for the good condition of our highways and bridges. It seems to me they have not been in a more thorough state of repair for many years. In order to be kept so, prompt, efficient and experienced men should always be employed. I would suggest, if the services of our present Superintendent of Streets in District No. 1 can be obtained at a reasonable compensation, to engage them. His last year's experience in becoming familiar with all the weak places in our bridges, culverts and drains, and places in our highways that wash in sudden showers and require immediate attention, is of much value to our city.

I would recommend a liberal appropriation for sewers and drains. The health of our citizens very much depends upon good and sufficient drainage. The work has already been commenced in earnest, and I hope it will be suitably prosecuted until our whole city is sufficiently and properly underdrained.

If any one thing more than another demands your watchful and fostering care, it is our public schools. The district school system is old as we as a people. It has always aimed to give to each man's child—to the poor and the rich alike—the advantages of an education; and whatever advantages a general diffusion of knowledge has given us over other nations where the masses have no educational privileges, (and they are well nigh beyond calculation), are mainly due to our public school system. The pride and boast of New England has ever been her system of free schools, and one of the happiest results of our late civil commotion evidently is to be the early spread of this noble system of schools to all parts of our great Republic. Determined not to be behind our sister cities, at the last session of our Legislature a law was enacted by which all our school districts and systems are to be abolished, and the whole city brought into one district; all the schools to be under the exclusive control of a single committee chosen by the legal voters of the city. The success which awaits this new system of our schools greatly depends on judicious management on the start. I have strong hope and expectation that this new system will result greatly to our advantage as a benefit in various ways. The old system had its defects which this was intended to and should remedy. Under the old system, many a poor man was debarred from sending his children to a Grammar or High school, simply because he happened to live just outside the boundary of District No. 2. This was all wrong. We should provide equal school privileges to each and every man's child in the city, no matter in what part of the city the parents may live. This the old system does not attempt to do. This the new system proposes to do. We offer under this system a great inducement to citizens and parents of other towns to remove into our city, who have children they desire to educate, as a means of cheap and thorough education, and at the same time have them under their watchful care and supervision, than to be obliged to educate them far away from home, where they are free from all parental restraint and protection.

Our Fire Department has always proved itself adequate to all and every emergency, and to its superior skill and management, good judgment of its officers and efficiency of its members, has been owing our almost unparalleled success in subduing all fires, so that our city has escaped any large conflagration, which has so often been the misfortune of many other cities. This department I believe is in good condition, and for further information I refer you to the report of the Chief Engineer.

Our Police Department I am informed is in a good, satisfactory and efficient condition, not requiring any particular change in its system of management at your hands.

If there is one demand more imperative than another that requires your immediate attention, in my judgment it certainly is to provide a more easy and enlarged egress from our City Hall. With its present constructed stairway passage, it would be impossible, with a Hall filled with men, women and children, if an alarm of fire was given, and a panic ensue, to escape without much personal damage and perhaps the loss of many valuable lives. Many of our careful and largely taxed citizens, I am credibly informed, absent themselves from our public gatherings rather than imperil their lives in a crowded Hall. Certainly with a Hall so commodious and beautiful as ours, there should be nothing lacking on our part to give a feeling of composure and security to all our citizens.

Our homes are valuable and dear to us all; and equally so is the last resting place of those we have so fondly loved and cherished here on earth. We hold our Cemetery ground sacred and holy, and it should be carefully watched and kept inviolate from ruthless hands. We certainly ought to make proper and sufficient provision for the safe keeping, adorning and beautifying of the grounds, that it may be made more attractive to citizens and strangers. I would recommend a generous appropriation to that end.

And now, gentlemen, in conclusion, allow me to say we are all deeply interested in the prosperity of our city. In order for us to increase in population, manufactures, trade and wealth, we must encourage education, religious and moral institutions, and all modern improvements, both public and private. Commensurate with a liberal legislation is the growth and success of our city, increase of our population, and pleasure of our people. And let us labor to make our administration as wise, prudent, and acceptable to our fellow citizens, as that of our predecessors; and above all to so discharge all the duties incumbent upon each one and all of us, that when our official duties close we may feel the high approval of God and our own consciences.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

CITY OF DOVER, DEC. 30, 1869.

The undersigned, Joint Standing Committee on Finance, of the City Councils of said City, certify that in accordance with the provisions of an existing Ordinance, we have examined the foregoing account of E. J. Lane, City Treasurer, and find the same to be correctly cast, and each payment properly vouched by a Treasury order, corresponding in amount with the vouchers in the hands of the City Clerk. We have also examined the sources from which the income of the past year has been derived, and are satisfied that he has charged himself with the whole amount paid into the Treasury.

We find, that the total receipts into the Treasury, during the year ending Dec. 30, 1869, including the ($2,431.79) two thousand four hundred thirty-one dollars and seventy-nine cents, cash balance of 1868, have been ($123,806.44) one hundred twenty three thousand eight hundred six dollars and forty-four cents.

The total payments during the same time have been ($119,453.97) one hundred nineteen thousand four hundred fifty-three dollars and ninety-seven cents, leaving a balance in the Treasury of ($4,352.47) four thousand three hundred fifty-two dollars and forty-seven cents.

OF THE

To the Honorable Mayor and City Councils of the City of Dover :

I herewith, in accordance with the usual custom, respectfully submit to you, as the Chief of the Fire Department, my Annual Report as an exhibit of the condition, expense, number of fires and alarms, and a list of officers and members of the Department, for the year ending December 31, 1869.

We had during the year fourteen fires, with a total loss of property to the amount of ($2,600) twenty-six hundred dollars. The Department was called out by fires in the City fourteen times ; by false alarm once, and gave their assistance once to the neighboring town of Durham.

The total expense of this Department for the year, including the salaries of all the officers and men, amounts to ($4,851 90) four thousand eight hundred fifty-one dollars and ninety cents. The general condition of the Department is very good ; the officers and men under my charge are prompt and energetic in the discharge of their duties, and it affords me great pleasure to report their uniform kindness and faithfulness on all occasions. The several Engine Houses and apparatus connected with this department are in good order. There has been no change in the organizations and they remain as last year, viz. : one hundred and five officers and men, two Steam fire engines, two Hand Engines, and one Hook and Ladder Carriage, and necessary apparatus for the same.

In conclusion, I beg leave to respectfully call your attention to the disposition made of the horses provided by the City for the use of this Department. We rely mainly upon the assistance of the City horses as a means of transporting our two Steam Engines in case of a fire or an alarm. All persons having charge of the horses during the day, not belonging to the Department, should be individually instructed by the Superintendent of Highways in regard to their duty in case of an alarm, and the limit of their work.

There is a deficiency in the number of horses. We have two Steam Engines and one large Hose Carriage, with but one horse belonging to the Department and the aid of but two from the City, while at all times to draw each Engine in case of fire and to reach it in season, it would be necessary to have two horses to each Engine and one for the Hose Carriage.

I also request an appropriation for purchasing 500 feet of new leading hose, and 105 Badges for the officers and members of the Department.

Whole number of different scholars, 377; average attendance for the year, 253.

There has been only one change in the Board of Teachers during the year. Mr. Ira Waldron finished his services with the Grammar School at the close of the Summer Term. His labors were characterized by strictness of discipline, thoroughness of instruction, and an endeavor to make the scholar feel that he must study,—and study hard,—that he might obtain an education.

Mr. Sidney A. Phillips was his successor, who soon won the respect of the pupils by his cheerfulness, kindness in his tone, expression and movements, making the school-room pleasant and attractive. With skill he maintained the good discipline which his predecessor had established.

Miss Sarah B. Piper, who has long been the Assistant of this School, maintained her former reputation as a teacher.

At the Annual Examination there were evidences that the School had made as good progress during the year as in past years. But it was also evident that some of the scholars had not been inspired with the feeling that there must be hard study, and close, self-denying application, that they might obtain an object,—truly desirable and valuable,—a thorough education; therefore a large minority of the School did not come up to the standard of rank requisite for promotion to higher classes.

The teachers have given evidence that they have labored faithfully, energetically and untiringly, and yet have failed to bring the School up to the highest possible standard. Why is this? Doubtless, because of irregularity of attendance on the part of some of the scholars, which is an index of a want of sympathy and co-operation of parents in regard to the welfare of the School. The indifference of parents in behalf of the School, or a flat unwillingness of co-operation with the teacher, is quite a sure way to degrade rather than promote the School.

While we regret that we were obliged to resort to the severe discipline of expelling two boys, yet we are glad that it had an effect so salutary upon the School, presently evincing that a great disturbing element had gone out with their expulsion,—thereby a check to progress had been taken away.

The examination of the Secondary and Primary Schools were highly satisfactory. All of the teachers have taught in the same Schools for several years. They well understood what was to be done, and the scholars generally seemed willing to do what was required of them. The atmosphere of these Schools seemed to have been what it ought to be; not made gloomy and disagreeable by the teachers, which will make the pupils restless, fretful and troublesome, but cheerful and pleasant, which inspired the pupils with the same feeling and created in them a love for their study.

There are some marked and commendable features in these Schools. The method of instruction is such as produces scholars and not simpletons. The teachers require the pupils to work and exhaust the study themselves if they can. The result is a thorough understanding of what has been pursued. The first principles are kept fresh in memory,—a most essential thing,—even as the scholar advances to higher grades.

The attendance in these schools has been good in general and remarkable in some cases. Miss Reynolds reports two not absent a half day for a term; Miss Mary E. Piper thirteen not absent a half day for a term, and one not absent a half day for the year; Miss Cooke four not absent a half day for a term; Miss Bickford four not absent a half day for two terms, eleven for one term, one for the year. This is praiseworthy, both as respects teachers and scholars.

It is sufficient to add that the teachers in these Schools are esteemed by scholar, parent and committee as most faithful and efficient.

During the year a certain sum of money and time have been appropriated for singing,—a new and regular exercise introduced into all of the Schools of the District. We are happy to say that it has not been an extravagant or foolish expenditure of time or money, or a waste of energies on that “which satisfieth not.”

Miss M. A. Mathews, who has been the teacher in this department, has in general had marked success. The first principles of music have been taught, even in the Primary Schools, with good success. The voices of the pupils have been well trained. At the Annual Examination they acquitted themselves very creditably in this branch of their studies.

Vocal music in our Schools is useful, both as a disciplinary exercise, and as a means of elevating the moral feelings of the scholar. Instruction in vocal music is admirably adapted to fix the attention of the mind in a pleasing manner and at the same time it has a soothing and refining influence over the passions, which effect cannot fail to be most salutary. It serves also to break up the dull monotony which is often attendant upon the regular routine of school duties. It will restore good feeling and sweet union, when the school becomes restless,—listless,—dull; it will drive away unhappiness, and bring cheerfulness upon every countenance. “In no place does cheerful song fall more gratefully upon the ear than at the opening and closing duties of each day, or the breaking out in the midst of the busy scenes in the school-room.” We therefore hope this branch of education will no longer be neglected, but receive its due appropriations of time and money.

In conclusion: A great want in all the school-rooms is books of reference and illustrative apparatus. The fact stands thus: The only book of reference is a part of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary for the Grammar School. There are no illustrative apparatus or wall maps. Every school-room should be well supplied with books of reference, both for scholar and teacher. Let copies of Webster's and Worcester's Dictionaries be in every school-room, and Johnson's Atlas of the World,—when geography is studied,—and a globe, wall maps, and such other apparatus as the school demands. It is poor economy to withhold from the school-room what is really needed for a prosperous School. It is not right to place a teacher there without sufficient apparatus to work with. As the new system of consolidation is inaugurated, we trust these defects will disappear.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

C. C. WATSON,

For Committee.

REPORT.

In compliance with long established custom, and the requirements of law, the Superintending Committee of School District No. 2, of the City of Dover, respectfully submit the following report of their acts, and the condition of the various Schools under their supervision, during the year ending March 8, 1870.

Your Committee was organized March 27th, by the choice of Thomas E. Sawyer as Chairman, and J. M. Brewster as Secretary. In April Mr. Brewster tendered his resignation both as Secretary and member of the Board, and John B. Stevens, Jr., was chosen Secretary. Mr. Brewster's place upon the Board was filled by the appointment of Joseph W. Welch.

The reports of the preceding years have so often and so fully set forth the number, grades and general system of the Schools, that it now seems unnecessary to say more, than that during the year just closed there has been in these respects no material change.

The Tables, however, show the names and stations of the teachers, the whole number of scholars connected with the Schools, the usual statistics of attendance, and some account of the comparative standing in other respects of the different grades.

The Committee, in view of the recent amendment to our City Charter, have not thought it advisable to depart from the revised rules and regulations of February 1869, except in regard to the number of daily sessions in the High School, but have directed their attention to perfecting their operation by careful and attentive watchfulness.

A review of the Schools for the year shows a steady progress, and a reasonably satisfactory state of things. Greater efforts seem to have been made by the teachers to ensure complete success than ever before. We have suffered more from sickness than in the preceding year, especially in the Primary Department, the epidemic diseases peculiar to childhood having reduced several Schools during the Spring term to less than one-half of their usual numbers. The numerous changes of position in the corps of teachers, indicated in the Table, although occurring in a number of stages, resulted in the resignations of Miss Sophronia A. Smith, of the second grade on Hurd street, at the close of the Spring Term, and Mr.

William Reed, principal of the Grammar School, during the first month of the Fall Term.

A marked improvement in the government and discipline of all the grades has been observed, although more particularly in the High and Grammar Schools. There yet remains much to be done to secure that active co-operation between parents and teachers, so necessary to attain the best results in this respect.

Our schools would be very much benefited by more frequent visits of parents during term time. The records show that few even call except at some examination. In no better way can parents show their deep interest for the welfare of their children, than by making frequent visits to their school-rooms. Such interviews act as a stimulant to teachers and pupils, and are dearly prized by both.

The recent examinations in the Primary Department have elicited very marked evidence, not only of improvement in methods of teaching, but of greater wisdom and discretion than in previous years. We do not mean that this increase of power is uniformly distributed, or even that all have tried equally hard, or possess equal tact and adaptation, but that a large majority have shown a commendable advance, and some of those who have been regarded hitherto as inefficient, have made very perceptible improvement.

One great obstacle to the prosperity of these schools, and from which they have suffered more than from any other cause, is the irregular attendance of the pupils. This is an evil totally distinct from truancy, and not to be explained by sickness. Were parents fully aware of the injury their children sustain, they would gladly join in the efforts of the committee and teachers to eradicate this vexatious and hurtful habit.

In most of the schools it is the practice to spend a few minutes in some form of calisthenics; a sprightly and attractive appearance has been noticed where attention is paid to such exercises.

These schools have furnished a class of fifty-one for the Grammar School. The custom heretofore has been to promote by classes at the end of each year,—that is to say, the upper class in each grade below the first has been annually transferred to the second class of the next grade, and the first classes of the highest grades examined together for admission to the Grammar School. Many other cities make semi-annual examinations and promotions, and claim that great advantages are derived from the practice.

There is a pressing necessity for more Primary sittings, which the consolidation of districts is likely to aggravate, unless a plan is devised whereby additional accommodations will be afforded in this division, or the upper grade, in which grammar is taught, be incorporated into the Grammar Schools. A crisis has now been reached in the history of this department, and as the operation of the new order of management will probably involve changes in our schools,—certainly in our school-houses,—the difficulty, which has been a source of trouble for several years, may perhaps be as well settled this year as at any future time.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This is in a very satisfactory condition in all respects. Soon after the commencement of the Fall Term, Mr. William Reed, who had labored efficiently and most devotedly for the welfare of the school, resigned his situation for a more lucrative station, in the same field of labor. After careful and mature deliberation, the two Boards unanimously determined to intrust the immediate care of the school to a female teacher and two assistants,—all under the general supervision of the High School Principal.

Mrs. L. J. Hanson, then acting as first assistant, who had distinguished herself in several positions, was promoted to the desk. The second assistant, Miss Lovie F. Ricker, was made first assistant, and Miss Sarah L. Hallam was transferred from the first grade of Hurd street Primary to the vacant position. The experiment has worked to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

At the last Annual Examination of candidates for the High School, forty-three were granted certificates of admission. Most of the papers were well executed and very satisfactory; a few applicants, however, manifested a deficiency in their knowledge of some of the studies, and were passed on trial. The Grammar School bears a very important part in a graded system, but the already crowded condition of ours, will make it impossible to accommodate all who will be likely to apply for admission under the late provisions of the City Charter. The question, therefore, of erecting a new Grammar School-House, on the north side of the river, suitably arranged for the seating of two hundred pupils, is one which should occupy the early attention of the new Committee.

HIGH SCHOOL.

This year has been one of great activity and uninterrupted prosperity in the High School. In consequence of certain difficulties and obstacles, which were of necessity borne with during the preceding year, this important department demanded and received a great deal of thoughtful attention in the Spring vacation. In securing the services of Mr. William Webster, as Principal, at the opening of the school, your Committee deemed themselves and the District at large, peculiarly fortunate; the monthly exhibits and final developments of the year, have more than deepened the impression. In addition to rare natural ability, scholarly polish and indefatigable industry, he has brought to his work a professional experience and ardor, that have produced the most wonderful and cheering results.

Miss Stewart, who was so eminently successful during the time she was employed in the preceding year, was retained as Assistant, and has fully sustained her former reputation, commanding the respect and affection of the scholars and the confidence of the Committee.

The withdrawing of a portion of the Principal's time for supervision of the Grammar School, rendered necessary the employment of an additional Assistant. Miss Ella M. Spurling, a graduate of the class of 1864, and a successful teacher in the High School of Lewiston, Me., accepted the responsible position, and has ably performed the duties incident to the office.

At a meeting of the Committee, held June 5th, an order was introduced and passed with entire unanimity, providing for one session only a day in this School. This experiment was tried with the direct understanding that the innovation was unanimously desired by teachers, pupils and parents. It is claimed for the one-session system, that it has taken root and flourished wherever its advantages have been tested, and a fair scope afforded for developing its capabilities. Our successors will determine whether this policy shall be continued. No strong objections to the plan have been presented, and under favorable circumstances we believe it judicious and practical.

In the examinations, for promotion from grade to grade, all the classes appeared well, evincing a uniform thoroughness and proficiency, that proved conclusively that no industry, zeal or interest was spared on the part of the Principal and his efficient Assistants. The closing exercises of the graduating class, held in the City Hall, and in the presence of a large and discriminating audience, furnished, however, the most interesting and substantial exhibit of the year's work. The oft repeated objection to school exhibitions, that ordinarily they present results of special training upon a few precocious individuals, instead of the real work of the school-room, will not lie against the display offered on this occasion. No special training was given, or time subtracted from daily tasks to prepare exercises not required in the year's work.

The general necessity for more school-room will be felt here very sensibly when the large class of next year come in, and the question again arises whether the crowded divisions of the Grammar School should not be accommodated elsewhere, and this building used exclusively for High School purposes.

GENERAL REMARKS.

We congratulate our fellow citizens upon the recent amendment to our City Charter, whereby a full, comprehensive and uniform plan of school treatment, even with the advanced requirements of the age, and possessing the elements of growth and expansion, may be made operative throughout the entire city. Fortunately, we are not left to grope our way blindly in this enterprise,—a number of cities in our own State have preceded us, and furnish whatever of fact and experiment is necessary to guide us safely through the natural difficulties of the situation. If we are only united and willing to labor cheerfully and earnestly through days of success and days of failure, we can but succeed in improving our school system, and through that the welfare and happiness of the whole city.
